

A newborn calf weighs around 80-100 pounds.

About 91% of cattle farms and ranches in the world are family-owned or individually operated.

Five of the most popular sports in the United States depend on by-products from cattle: baseball, football, basketball, soccer, and volleyball.

